

N. W. MISSOURI COLLEGE DEBATE FOE TOMORROW

Cancellation Of War Debts Is The Topic

ENTER TOURNNEY

Josephine Carroll, '36, and Edgar Randall were selected by Dr. T. C. Pollock, to debate Northwest Missouri State Teachers' College tomorrow evening.

The debate will be held at 7:30 in room 20, Omaha taking the negative of the question, "Resolved, That the United States Government Should Agree to the Cancellation of the Interallied War Debts." John L. White of Abraham Lincoln High School, Council Bluffs, will judge the contest.

Meet Simpson

Two teams from Simpson College, a boys' and a girls', will debate here on the afternoon of Monday, March 13.

According to Dr. Pollock the debate team is now concentrating all its efforts on the Nebraska Intercollegiate Forensic Association Tournament, which will be held at Midland College on March 9, 10 and 11. Both a boys' and girls' team will be entered, each team debating on both sides of the question. The girls' team will probably be Bernice Perimeterter and Josephine Carroll, while the boys will probably consist of Arthur King and Edgar Randall.

W.A.A. Banquet Next Wednesday

Physical Education Director At Nebraska To Speak

The annual Women's Basketball banquet will be sponsored by the W. A. A. at the Medical Arts Tea Room on Wednesday, March 1, as a climax to the girls' basketball tournament.

As a special feature, Miss Mabel Lee, Director of Physical Education at the University of Nebraska, will speak.

Honored guests will be Mrs. W. E. Sealock, Mrs. A. H. Fetter, Mrs. Rene Stevens, and Miss Thelma Sealock.

Organize Rifle Class At Omaha

Will Meet at Night and Carry
One Hour Credit;
Seek Coach

According to Tom Organ, coach of the Nebraska state rifle team, and Charles R. Gardner, plans for an Omaha University rifle class are under way. If the plans, now in the hands of the administration, reach completion, the classes will carry one hour credit and will be held at night.

Bids for a portable range, to be set up in the gym, have been accepted and Sergeant S. B. Moore, instructor at Central High School, has been suggested as a possible instructor.

Mr. Organ travels to Vandalia, Ohio, in September with his team to compete in the national contest.

Both men and women will have an opportunity to sign up for the class.

OUTSTATE PAPER LAUDS CARDINALS

Head of Ainsworth
School Writes
Dean

A letter of appreciation for the hour and a half the Cardinal basketball team spent in Ainsworth has been received by Dr. W. H. Thompson, dean of men, from M. F. Shickley, superintendent of the Ainsworth schools. Mr. Shickley also sent a clipping from the local newspaper which, he says, expresses the general appreciation.

"The local basketball players are indeed grateful to the members of the Omaha university team, who were here last Friday en route from Chadron to Omaha. They stopped here for lunch at noon and hearing this Superintendent Shickley and Coach Hunt called on them, at the same time extending an invitation to visit the local gym and show the Ainsworth players a few things.

Drive 300 Miles

"Although the visitors had close to 300 miles to drive that day to reach home, and the mercury registered around 15 degrees below zero, they quickly assented and were soon at the gym indulging in a workout. In fact they were on the local court a matter of an hour and a half, and the Ainsworth players feel very grateful, for they were given much valuable information.

"The courtesy of the Omaha boys will not be forgotten by the high school players of this city. It was indeed a graceful courtesy."

Stouffer Returns To Kansas University

The investigation of the University of Omaha by the North-Central Association ended Friday, February 17; and President W. E. Sealock will meet with officials of the association some time in March, when he will learn of the content of Dr. E. H. Stouffer's report.

SECOND SEMESTER ENROLLMENT 636

Increase Over Same Period Last Year

The total day school enrollment for this semester has reached 636, according to figures available in the Registrar's office Wednesday. This is an increase of approximately fifty students over the enrollment for the second semester, 1931-32.

Forty-five new students matriculated this semester. Thirty-five of them are entering freshmen.

The decrease of forty-nine students from last semester's enrollment of 685 is only a normal decrease, according to Registrar C. W. Helmsstadter. All schools have this drop in enrollment from the first semester to the second semester, he said.

Student Directories Are Placed On Sale

The Woman's Athletic Association began the sale of Student Directories yesterday morning in John Jacobs Gym, Joselyn Hall and Science Hall. Virginia Blundell is in charge of the sale. The price is ten cents.

CONTINUES GRADUATE STUDIES AT NEBRASKA

Mrs. Leslie F. Johnson is continuing her graduate studies at the University of Nebraska during this next semester. She goes to Lincoln every Saturday morning to attend a course in Great Classics presented by Mr. Lye of the Nebraska English Department to graduate students. The course allows three credits a semester.

CANCEL NOONDAY GYMNASIUM FEES AFTER COMPLAINT

Hartman Will Furnish Men Ping Pong
Table

SEVICK PETITIONS

A week's campaign for men's recreational rights was apparently successful Monday, when the noonday gymnasium charge was dropped and Sed Hartman, head of the men's athletic department, promised to furnish a men's ping pong table. A petition, circulated by Richard Sevlck, member of the University ping pong team, was presented to Mr. Hartman.

The petition was circulated after Miss Ruth Diamond, head of the women's athletic department, issued an order prohibiting men from playing on the tables furnished by the department under her supervision. Her move was based on President W. E. Sealock's statement that damage to ping pong tables and balls would have to be repaired at the expense of her own department.

Protest, Fee

Miss Diamond had instructed members of the Women's Athletic Association to charge 5 cents of all men entering the gymnasium during the noon hour on certain days. A petition against this ruling was circulated and taken to President Sealock, Friday, February 9.

Until Mr. Hartman secures the ping pong table, men are being allowed to play on the tables furnished by the W. A. A. for 5 cents, or free if they furnish their own balls. Women are given preference in the case of controversy.

Debate Features Assembly Today

University Teams Argue Debt Cancellation Before
Students

A debate between two men and two women will be the feature of the assembly this morning. Bernice Perimeterter and Josephine Carroll will oppose Arthur King and Edgar Randall, on the question: "Resolved: That the United States Should Agree to the Cancellation of the Inter-Allied War Debts." Miss Perimeterter and Miss Carroll will take the affirmative side.

The speeches will be considerably shortened because of the brief time allowed for the debate, Dr. T. C. Pollock, debate coach, said.

SCHEDULE CHANGES

DR. HOLT'S ultimatum last Friday, like the historic ultimatum of Austria to Serbia, which he recounts so ably in his classes, brought consternation to all involved.

After attending classes regularly for a week and a half the freshmen and sophomores who had been permitted to register in upper division courses, and the juniors and seniors who had had their lower division registrations approved, were breathing freely for the first time. They had invested heavily in books and now the semester was well under way.
Then came the blow.

All day Friday and far into the night an angry mob seethed in the Dean's office. At intervals scowling men and weeping women issued forth and crossed to the Registrar's office to make the required changes in their programs.
But, if we may return to the analogy of the war, there were rumblings that might have foretold the outbreak. Already last September the courses were separated into upper and lower divisions, and students were urged to notice the numbers prefixed to courses.

Then it seemed likely that the strict enforcement of the rules would be a gradual affair. Now the administration has adopted what is probably a better policy, here as well as in the case of the bad tooth. Have it out and get it over with! The operation was performed without the benefit of anesthetics, however!

"It was a cold day when I met you" probably refers to a class meeting in the auditorium.

COLLEGE BEHAVIOR

ALTHOUGH Emily Post is not our Patron Saint and we would hesitate to place her books in the same category as the Bible and the writings of Confucius, we do think good manners are important and necessary. We think they are especially important in college.

For if college students are a selected part of the population,
And if college students have bad manners, Then what about the rest of the population?

Every day someone throws chalk-soaked erasers (why doesn't someone clean them?) at someone else. Every day there appears new hand-writing on the walls—in pencil and ink. Every hour someone shouts to someone else in the halls. Every hour some love-struck couple looking for a parking place open the doors to half a dozen class rooms.

This ought to be enough to give you an idea what we mean. Think it over.

NOT SO COLLEGIATE

WHAT is collegiate? And one might ask: Who, when, where, why and how? You hear it in songs, sermons, and after-dinner speeches. But just what does it mean?

The term obviously refers to college students and particularly to the wilder eccentricities of this group. The implication is that college years are the fastest, free-est, and most careless days of adolescent youth.

Why then are symptoms of "col-legiatism" more apparent among freshmen than upper classmen?
Why do wry-faced groups of students decry high school dances as "brawls" and "rowdy"? Can it possibly be that the term is a mis-nomer, that "collegiatism" is already on the wane when it reaches college?

This seems to be the case. If college students are wild, it is a more dignified sort of wildness.
The foolish antics and pretensions of high school "children" are looked upon with disdain. The freshie entering the university keyed up to be the most collegiate of collegiates finds himself laughed at, and soon discovers that if there is any of this collegiate air it is hidden in an atmosphere of dignity and solemnity. Of course the college boy or girl has the recklessness, the gay abandon of youth, but it is an unwritten law, almost an instinct that there must be no outward effort to show this.
Just as an attempt to sprawl in a chair and appear relaxed and at ease falls short of the genuine, so a freshman, or an upperclassman for that matter, dressed loudly, topped by a well creased, signature-covered hat, shouting or staggering up and down halls, excites more pity than mirth. And so, my hearty students, fret not for college life is not quite as bad as some well-aged and soured "grouches" would have us believe.

WASTE BASKETS!

AT a recent assembly the condition of our halls with regard to waste paper was lamented by the administration. We fully agree with this attitude. The students present probably also agreed and left intending to be more careful in the future. Doubtless some have been more careful, but the fact remains that no real improvement has taken place.

The students are willing to cooperate in keeping the halls clean, but more than this is necessary.
We need proper facilities to keep the halls clean. If substantial waste paper containers were placed in convenient places the battle would be half won.

Many a student who now scatters paper right and left would be more considerate if waste paper containers were available. If the administration really wants to improve the condition of the halls they might make some step toward co-operation with the students.

PARAMOUNT THEATRE PRESENTS "STATE FAIR"

"State Fair," starring Janet Gaynor, Will Rogers, Sally Elllers, Lew Ayres, Louise Dresser and Norman Foster, began yesterday for a one-week run at the Paramount Theatre. It is a story of Nebraska and Iowa life and centers about the big state fair.
It was written by Phil Strong, Des Moines writer, who spent his entire life in this locale. This book won the Literary Guild prize of 1932.

Most of the scenes in this picture were taken in the corn belt.
It is a true and sympathetic insight into the character of the men and women of the mid-west.
The story centers around the Frake family, a typical mid-western family.

Students who have to carry home Board's "Nine of American Civilization" ought to be excused from any other physical training.

Hastings Relays 1st Meet for Trackmen

The Municipal university track squad will engage in their first meet of the year when they participate in the Hastings Relays early in April. Last year the Cardinals collected a third, a tie for third and a fourth place at Hastings against some of the best track squads in the middle-west.

There are possibilities that the cinder squad will also take part in the Drake and Yankton relays in addition to dual meets with several Nebraska colleges.

Education Classes Complete Project

Students Determine Opinion Of Teachers On Aims Of High School

Students of secondary education at the Municipal University have finished a project, the purpose of which was to find out what the high school teachers of this city think are the aims of the high school.
According to the committee in charge, Lillian Hill, Franklin Doty, and George Thatcher, working under the direction of Dr. L. O.
Taylor, most unanimity was shown on these three questions: The high school should recognize individual differences; teaching methods should be adapted to adolescent peculiarities; a tolerant attitude should be encouraged in pupils.

These three aims received nearly as much approval: The school should reflect community interests; it should provide for educational or vocational guidance; method should be considered equal in importance to subject matter.

Controversial Questions
On some of the controversial questions, the questions were unanswered, or evenly divided. Sixty-two and five-tenths per cent of the teachers favor offering instruction in parental responsibility, and less than half, 48.7%, favor religious and moral instruction. Among those aims meeting with less general approval were: Offering subject matter for its functional value only; establishing the six-year plan of high school; using the project method; and giving equal emphasis to mental and physical training.

The questions of the six-year high school and that of project teaching were not answered by 40%; the questions of offering subject matter only on its functional value, giving religious and moral training, and employing teachers whose technique is in harmony with the modern democratic high school, were not answered by 32%. On the question of training for parenthood and placing equal emphasis on physical and parental training, 24% had formed no opinion.

Name Roberts Head Coach at Wesleyan

named head athletic coach at Nebraska Wesleyan university at Lincoln. He will assume his new duties in the fall.

sity Roberts earned letters in both

New Library Books

"Great Game of Politics"

(Frank Kent)

This is a readable book on a subject of widespread interest.
Kent, a democratic leader and former editor of the Baltimore Sun, writes simply and with telling comparisons. The book consists of two parts, "The Party Machine from Precinct Executive to Boss," and "Candidates and Their Ways."

"Art Forms in Nature"

(Karl Blossfeldt)

This is a volume of enlarged photographs of plant life. Young acorn twigs, marigold seedpods, thistle seeds and bean stems appear under the magnifying glass as objects of delicate beauty and elaborate arrangement. The soft-toned prints give them a threefold value as works of nature study, design, and photography.

"My Friendly Contemporaries"

(Hamlin Garland)

The 1932 volume of Garland's autobiography concerns the war period and early post-war years.
It not only portrays Garland's own personality, but reflects those of Roosevelt, Conrad, Burroughs, Mark Sullivan, Howells, Shaw, and others of national and international importance.

"Shadows on the Rock"

(Willis Guther)

The apothecary and his little daughter live in the shadow of the rock of Count Frontenac's Quebec.
These two not only lead active lives themselves, but form a background for fantastic, halflegendary tales of saints and hunters, ghosts and fairies, monks and prison torturers. The great past played by religion in early Canada is vividly shown. The book is written in Guther's romantic style, with much character study.

Why is it that large classes are always assigned to small rooms and small classes to large rooms?

Most things shrink in cold weather, but the distance to Science Hall seems to get longer.

It's a good thing grades weren't mailed out until after registration, or some professors might not have had any students the second semester.

Garrell Addresses Omaha Chem Club

At the first meeting of the Chem Club, February 17, Mr. Garrell, president of the Independent Drug Association, spoke regarding Chemistry in Perfumery.

Mr. Garrell sketched briefly the history of perfumery. "Excavations," he said, "have disclosed that perfumes were used in the time of the Pharaohs. Perfumes are mentioned, moreover, in the Bible, so the modern industry has a long history."

Made in Laboratory

Oil of rose has been known for a long time. One of its chief components is now made in the laboratory. It is phenyl ethyl alcohol. It used to be that this oil required from 250,000 roses and up to make a pound. This fact explains why it is very expensive—$150 per pound.

"Nearly all the odors are now made synthetically. It is due to this fact that the perfume industry is now as large as it is."

Mr. Garrell mentioned examples of the different odors, and explained of what they consist.

Hold First Book Reviewing Course

A course in book reviewing is being given for the first time at the Municipal University of Omaha in its extension department. The first of eight weekly sessions was held Thursday, February 18, under the direction of Mrs. Gearhart.

"No rules govern this very young science—if such it may be called," declared Mrs. Gearhart. "Methods of book reviewing depend largely upon taste, discrimination, independence, individuality, being entirely successful—regardless of technique—if you can inveigle your listeners into reading the book."

Recommends Novel

Touching on a few of the late novels, she recommended "Saint Saturnin," by Jean Schlumberger, and "Invitation to the Waltz," by Rosamond Lehman.

In order to better understand reviewing, Mrs. Gearhart believes one should trace the development of the English novel from its earliest stages to its present form, and read the "big four," Richardson, Fielding, Smollett and Sterne.

PLAY PRODUCTION

Tryouts for parts in three one-act plays are being made among members of the Play Production classes. The plays are: "Neighbors," "Sardines," "Sauce For the Gossips," and "The Dust of the Road."

DISHING OUT SPORT HASH

IT seems that fate has been dealing rather harshly with Omaha's basketball team since the early part of this month. When Omaha went to Chadron recently it boasted 29 consecutive victories—but that win streak was snapped when the Eagles took both contests.

TO add to the Cardinals' grief, Peru Normal took a close game from the Omahans, and then the cellar position Kearney quintet handed them a 34-30 setback. Tonight the Cards make their last appearance of the season against Wayne Normal.

THERE will be more to the Wayne game tonight other than the mere fact that two teams will play. Carroll Sales, Cardinal basketball captain, will play in his last game under Omaha University colors. "Chick" has fought hard for the school in the four years he has been here.

IN receipt of a letter from Fred Dale, president of Nebraska Intercollegiate conference, he says that conference officials hope to successfully arrange next year's N. I. A. A. basketball season so that there will be fewer games. Some discussion has come up the past year or two about Chadron Normal playing so many more games than Omaha, Wayne, Kearney, and Peru. Chadron plays others teams in the conference four times, and when the league season closes Chadron has played 16 games to the 10 games played by the other loop quintets. It is now understood that Coach Rufus Trapp of Chadron favors playing fewer conference games.

AS far as Omaha is concerned, the Nebraska Intercollegiate conference means little and, more than likely, nothing. This writer believes that Omaha should not even be in the conference and also believes there are numerous others who are of the same opinion. Some will come back with the argument that Omaha should beat all the N. I. A. A. teams before thinking about going out of the conference. Omaha has every right to believe that it is equally as good or better than any college team of its size and ranking in this vicinity. Time should prove Omaha's rightful position among college teams in the middlewest.

HERE and there—Coach Hartman has lined up another big football game for next year, but won't let the secret out. The W. A. A. has stopped charging five cent admissions for the noon recreation hours at the gym. Thanks to them, Spring is on its way—track is just around the corner. Interfraternity basketball starts this afternoon. How about a little support from the student body? Don't forget the charity basketball game at the Jewish Community Center gym, Twentieth and Dodge streets, Tuesday night. Benny Huff's Cardinal reserves meet the highly touted J. C. C. varsity team. To top that off the Janitor Express plays a preliminary (and that ought to be good). Omaha should be well represented there. The games will be corkers for both teams haven't felt defeat very many times this season.

AGAIN—Don't forget the Omaha Wayne game tonight. The boys may have appeared downhearted the past two weeks, but they are bound to snap out of it tonight. The student body will be put to a test in the Wayne game. I recall a sign posted in Physical Director M. H. Sogolow's office at the Jewish Community Center which says: "ANY man can play on a winning team, but it takes a REAL man to play on a losing team." To modify it a bit and make it apply to the statement above con-

HOPE TO SNAP LOSING STREAK IN FINAL GAME

Need Win To Remain In Second Place

A crippled Cardinal basketball team, without doubt extremely downhearted because of recent defeats, will seek desperately to break a four-game losing streak against Wayne Normal Friday night on the Benson High court. The tipoff is called for 8 o'clock.

The contest is the concluding Nebraska Intercollegiate conference affair for Omaha. A victory will clinch second place for Coach Hartman's men. The Cardinals beat the Wayne quintet on the Wildcat floor early in the season, but it is likely to be a royal battle Friday night before the winner is decided.

Loose Spirit

Since the Omahans have been eliminated from the conference championship picture they lost a large part of their former spirit and fire. However, the Cardinals will, under all probabilities, take the floor "fighting mad" against Wayne.

The game is not only Omaha's final N. I. A. A. encounter, but its concluding tussle of the season.

CRIPPLED CARDS LOSE TO KEARNEY

Unsteady Omaha Five Exhibits Ragged Defense

Unable to rouse spirits that had been dampened by the loss of a conference championship, a quintet of Cardinal cripples hobbled in second best to the Kearney teachers at the Benson High gymnasium, Monday night. The count was 34 to 30.

The Muni University basketball team were the same unsteady combination that dropped a crucial contest to Peru the Wednesday before. Numerous injuries and a noticeable loss of confidence resulted in a ragged defense and a succession of missed setups.

Patterson Plays

Sales, veteran Card center, was held out the entire first half; and Patterson, his knee injured so badly that he could do nothing but walk around the court, played the whole second period. Hoover missed an infinite number of easy shots.

Kearney's best bet was Fitz, who shoved in one-handed shots in the second half.

W. A. A. DANCE NETS TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS

Proceeds from the W. A. A. Sports dance, given at the gymnasium February 17, netted about $26, which will go to make up the money to defray expenses of an Omaha representative to the national W. A. A. at Dallas, Tex., this spring.

The women's singles ping pong tournament will get under way March 2. Entries for the meet are now being received.

During the test the crowd would be put to tonight! ANYBODY can back a winning team, but it takes REAL fellows to back a losing team.

Reserves Appear In Charity Fray

Meet Jewish Community Center Five in Two-Game Series

Two stiff assignments face Benny Huff's Cardinal reserve basketballers Friday and Tuesday nights—and both of them are the Jewish Community Center varsity quintet. The first encounter between the two teams will be as a preliminary to the Wayne Normal-Omaha game on the Benson High floor. The Center men have lost but seven games in twenty-eight contests this season and are a powerful outfit.

Ticket Sale

Tuesday night at 8:30 Huff's seconds try their luck against the J. C. C. five on the Jewish Community Center court. The game will be in the name of charity. Admission is 25 cents. Tickets are now available. See Morris Franklin, Milton Altsuler, or Paul Lange.

As an added attraction, the Janitor Express will meet the XI Lambdas of the Center in a preliminary, starting at 6:30.

M. H. Sogolow, physical director at the Center, anticipates a large crowd. Both teams are expecting tough battles.

Postpone Match With J. C. C. Team

The ping pong match between the Omaha squad and the Jewish Community Center team, scheduled last Wednesday at the Cardinal gymnasium, was postponed until this coming week. Many of the J. C. C. men are playing in the World-Herald city handball tournament and found it necessary to set the date back.

TWO INTERFRATERNITY CONTESTS FOR TODAY

The mens interfraternity basketball tournament will get under way today at the gymnasium with two games scheduled. The Barbs, defending champions, meet Phi Sigma Phi in the first contest, starting at 3 o'clock, and the Theta Phi Deltas engage the Alpha Sigma Lambdas in the second game carded to begin about 4 o'clock.

CHADRON FIRST IN STATE CONFERENCE

Second Berth Goes To Omaha Cards

N. I. A. A. STANDINGS

	W.	L.	Pct.
Chadron	11	4	.733
OMAHA	5	4	.555
Peru	4	5	.444
Wayne	3	4	.428
Kearney	2	8	.200

To Chadron Normal goes the 1933 Nebraska Intercollegiate conference basketball championship. Omaha, defending champions, after dropping a pair of hard fought battles to Chadron recently on the Eagles' court, have hit the skids since in conference contests. Omaha has one more N. I. A. A. encounter on its schedule, that with Wayne Normal on the Benson maples Friday night. The leagues closes for the season with the Wayne-Peru tussle on the Bobcat court, Saturday night.

Can Clinch Second

By downing Wayne, Omaha can clinch second place. However, a defeat at the hands of the Wayne tossers would send the Cardinals into a tie for second with Wayne or Peru. Should Wayne trounce both Omaha and Peru, the Wildcats would slip into second place and drop Omaha to third in the standings.

Robert Elliott, former North High athlete, has enrolled at Municipal University. Elliott played tackle on the undefeated North football team of 1929 and was chosen on the all-city team the same year.
